

Year of Data and Society

Data@Pitt

Open to all University of Pittsburgh staff, especially those who are new or curious about data and data analytics tools and programs, faculty who hold administrative roles and students. Join us the first-ever Data@Pitt day event taking place in-person with selected presentations available for remote attendance on Wednesday, June 8 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Attend and become part of the data conversations happening @ Pitt

Register here for this event by June 2nd

Schedule of Events

Wednesday, June 8, 2022

Pitt Public Health building, 130 DeSoto Street
Remote attendance via Zoom

9:30 – 10:00 a.m.

Check-In, Demonstrations, and Networking
Pitt Public Health Commons

10:00 – 11:20 a.m.

Welcoming Remarks and Opening Keynote
Cultivating a Positive Data Culture: The Importance of Planning, Relationships, and Good Timing
featuring Dr. Amelia Parnell, National Association Student Affairs Professionals (NASPA)
G23 Auditorium | Remote attendance available

11:30 a.m. – 12:45 p.m.

Concurrent Panel Discussion Sessions

Panel Discussion: How Tableau has made my life better - Student Session
G23 Auditorium | Remote attendance available

Panel Discussion: How Tableau has made my life better - Administration Session
A115 Classroom | Remote attendance available

11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Lunch, Networking, and Demonstrations
Pitt Public Health Commons

Choose from various catered boxed sandwich lunches or boxed salad lunches provided through funding from The Year of Data and Society proposal for Data@Pitt

12:45 – 1:30 p.m.

Concurrent Sessions

Data warehouse @ Pitt
(final title TBA)

Presenter: Steven Richardson
G23 Auditorium | Remote
attendance available

Amazon Web Services (AWS) +
Tableau: Better Together

Presenter: AWS staff
A115 Classroom | Remote
attendance available

1:30 – 2:15 p.m.

Data Storytelling

Presenter: Marcela Gomez
G23 Auditorium | Remote attendance available

2:15 – 3:00 p.m.

What can statistics tell us about best practices in administrative analytics?

Presenter: Eleanor Feingold
G23 Auditorium | Remote attendance available

3:00 – 3:45 p.m.

Feature session: From Data Culture, Governance, and Democratization
(final title TBA)

Presenters: Data Center Staff from the Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health
G23 Auditorium | Remote attendance available

3:45 – 4:00 p.m.

Closing Remarks

G23 Auditorium | Remote attendance available

Special thanks to Pitt Public Health for use of their space!

Keynote Speaker
Amelia Parnell, PhD
Vice President for Research and Policy
National Association Student Affairs
Professionals (NASPA)

Demonstrations & Networking

During check in and over lunch, stop by one of the tables in the Public Health Commons area to experience various data dashboards showcasing Pitt data, learn about opportunities on and off campus to pick up new data skills, talk to representatives from Tableau and Amazon Web Service (AWS), and meet your fellow data colleagues - new and old!

Executive Planning Committee

This event would not have been possible without the creativity, enthusiasm, and efforts of the following individuals.

Brandi Belleau
Marcela Gomez
Robin Leaf
Heather Lego
Steven Richardson
Nalyn Siripong
Sarah Vinski

Special thanks to:

Amazon Web Services
Associate of Schools and Programs of Public Health
Office of the Provost
Pitt Occupational Therapy Faculty and Administrative Staff
Pitt Public Health Faculty and Staff
Pitt IT
Tableau
The Year of Data and Society Planning Committee and Committee Chair
Dr. Eleanor Mattern

